NOW CHANGING TOPICS, AS YOU MAY KNOW, refugees come to Canada in different ways. Some of them live in refugee camps overseas and are selected by the Canadian government to come to Canada. Other people come to Canada and, after arriving, make refugee claims, saying that they cannot go home because they face persecution. In your opinion, do you feel that there are too many, too few or about the right number of refugees coming to Canada?

As you may know, newcomers to Canada must apply to become Canadian citizens. In fact, to become a Canadian citizen, adult newcomers must have lived in Canada for at least three years before applying for citizenship. In your view, is three years too long, too short or the right amount of time before newcomers can apply for citizenship?
