Executive Summary

1. Background

In anticipation of the Cannabis Act coming into force on October 17, 2018, Health Canada launched a multi-year public education and awareness campaign targeted at the general population and youth to ensure Canadians are well-informed about the health and safety risks of cannabis use and about the new laws. The campaigns will include partnerships with key stakeholders, public communications and outreach, and paid media (advertising).

The latest cannabis public education advertising campaigns aim to inform Canadians about:

- what will and will not be legal
- health facts, including lower-risk use guidelines of cannabis
- drug-impaired driving including new laws, impacts of driving under the influence, and law enforcement's abilities to detect and deter drug-impaired driving
- travel and border considerations
- impairment in the workplace
- provincial and territorial responsibilities

It is therefore necessary to conduct research utilizing baseline and post-campaign Advertising Campaign Evaluation Tool (ACET) surveys to measure the effectiveness of the campaign.

The research consisted of online surveys (individualized to the pre-wave and post-wave research) conducted in English and French, taking place between September 28- October 17, 2018 for the pre-wave, and June 10- June 30, 2019 for the post-wave.

Ipsos programmed, hosted and provided sample management services only, while Health Canada provided the online surveys. Ipsos was responsible for data collection and data storage in Canada, data processing, and data weighting. The total contract value of this research was $69,718.40 including HST.

2. Research Objectives

Quantitative baseline and post-campaign Advertising Campaign Evaluation Tool (ACET) surveys are required to understand the effectiveness of the advertising campaign.

The specific research objectives are as follows:

- Determine if people have seen the advertisements associated with the campaign
- Determine where the ads have been seen
- Measure recall of specific elements of the campaign
- Identify attitudinal changes because of the advertising campaign

3. Methodology

3.1 Online Sample

Respondents for both the pre- and post-wave samples were drawn from the Ipsos i-Say panel, consisting of over 200,000 Canadians recruited in all provinces and territories. The pre-wave sample of n=2376 was drawn from Canadians 18+ and included an oversample of males aged 18-24 (n=246) and an oversample of respondents aged 16-17 (n=55). The post-wave sample of n=2363 was drawn from Canadians 16+ and similarly included an oversample of males 18-24 (n=159) and respondents aged 16-17 (n=176). To appropriately survey youth respondents, a series of questions were asked to parents and/or legal guardians of children aged 16-17 to obtain consent to survey their children. By obtaining consent, we were able to safely poll youth respondents and acquire the necessary oversample. Respondents were invited to participate in the survey via email, with a unique URL link. This link could only be used once, with respondents being allowed to take pause during completion and return to complete it at a later time. Survey questionnaires took 10 minutes to complete on average.

Participant Recruitment

Sample Source

The Ipsos i-Say panel is the primary source for recruiting respondents. Where necessary, a supplemental sample from third party vendor panels is also used as a source. The Ipsos i-Say online panel is a diversely-sourced and actively maintained panel of over 200,000 Canadian adults. Utilizing this panel allows us to confidently build online samples based on known population characteristics like the ones available through Census data. Invitations to participate in each survey are adjusted to reflect the most recent Current Population Data provided by Statistics Canada.

Online panel participants are recruited and screened using rigorous double and triple opt-in checks¹ to ensure that respondents want to receive contact such as invitations to participate in research surveys. Ipsos i-Say panel Terms and Conditions of Membership details the respondents' rights to, at any time, for any reason ask to be removed from the panel and stop receiving emails from Ipsos and its clients.

Panel recruitment consists of the following steps:

- Various "wide net" methodologies (e.g., email campaigns, affiliate networks, banner ads, text ads, search engine, co-registration, offline-to-online, specialized websites); and,
- Customized incentives and materials for recruiting special targets such as mothers of babies, age group 55+, etc.

It is important to note that any panel – no matter how well recruited – does not enable random selection in the sense that not all members of the public are apt to join a panel. This applies to panels recruited through online approaches as well as panels recruited via traditional telephone Random Digit Dialing.

Rigorous panel maintenance procedures mean only those participants who actively participate in online surveys, at least once every six months, are included. Participants can choose whether to enter a survey or not. While participating in a survey, the respondent can simply exit the survey by closing the survey Internet browser window at any time without submitting their responses if they no longer want to participate.

In order to capture responses from low incidence individuals, such as vaccine-hesitant women who are currently pregnant, we use what is called a Webcruiser on our iSay Panel. A Webcruiser asks a set number of questions to our entire panel and typically takes approximately three weeks to complete. Panelists who meet the criteria we are looking for are then flagged and can be contacted for further research.

Incentives and Quality Control Measures

Respondents to Ipsos' online surveys are offered a number of innovative incentive programs in the forms of a point-based system where participants can redeem points for various items. We do not reward our panelists using cash payments.

Extensive quality-control procedures are in place within IIS (Ipsos Interactive Services, who manage our panel) to ensure that the survey inputs (sample and questionnaire design) allow for high-quality survey outputs (survey data). These processes span the life cycle of a panelist and are in place for all Ipsos online surveys. IIS experts are constantly monitoring and reviewing the performance of our quality measures and updating and integrating new ones as respondents' behaviors and the online landscape evolve.

Are panelists who they say they are

- Double Opt-In approach to confirm identity
- Country validation via Geo-IP
- Mismatch between device settings and geolocation
- Anonymous proxy detection
- Detection of robots via Captcha code
- Detection of "5 minutes" emails (temporary email addresses)
- Detection of data anomalies and patterns
- Maintenance of Ipsos blacklist
- RealAnswer™- detection of pasted and robot answers

They have not participated recently in similar surveys

- Strict panel usage rules to avoid interviewing the same people too often and prevent them from becoming too used to a type of survey or product category
- Duplicate devices identification through digital Fingerprinting (RelevantID®) and web/flashcookie

They complete surveys seriously

- Survey taking behavior: speeding, straight lining, open-ends quality evaluation
- Panelists' history monitored across surveys and used for panel purge removing “bad” or inactive respondents

They can only take the survey once

- Duplicate emails identification
- Duplicate devices identification through digital fingerprinting (RelevantID®) and web/flashcookie
- Duplicate contact details identification

Sample Weighting

The table below indicates the unweighted and weighted distributions of the pre-and post-wave online samples. Weighting was applied to the sample to ensure that the final data reflects the population of Canada by region, age, and gender according to the 2016 Census. A Random Iterative Method (RIM) technique was applied for weighting.

Weighted and Unweighted Online Sample

Canada	2376	2376	2363	2363
Region
British Columbia	317	322	324	321
Alberta	247	266	232*	265*

Male	1252	1164	1359	1148
Female	1124	1212	1004	1215
Age
16-17	55	51	176	66
18-34	650	647	592	629
35-54	714	787	716	782
55+	957	892	879	886

*Includes Territories

The figures presented in the table above show minimal differences between the pre-wave unweighted and weighted samples. As previously noted, the pre-wave research was drawn from a sample of Canadians 18+. In the post-wave research the youngest age group (16 to 17 years old) is overrepresented due to the sample age range being altered to 16+ in conjunction with the requested oversample. This resulted in a higher weight ratio of 2.6:1 which remains within acceptable ranges for a survey of the general population.

Email Statistics

The table below presents general statistics regarding the response rate for the email phase of research. Overall, a response rate 7% was achieved, which is within normal ranges for a survey of the Canadian adult population.

Calculation for Data Collection	Pre-Wave	Post-Wave
Total Email Invitations Issued	34826	52854
Invalid (incomplete/incorrect email address, email invitation bounce backs)	0	0
Unresolved (U) (no response at all)	31084	48534
In-scope - non-responding (IS)	101	771
Qualified respondent break-off (incomplete)	101	771
In-scope - Responding units (R)	3641	3549
Over quota	706	435
Other disqualified	559	751
Completed questionnaires	2376	2363
Response Rate = R/(U+IS+R)	10%	7%

Non-Response Analysis

As with any probability sample there exists within the current sample the possibility of non-response bias. In particular, this survey does not include members of the population who do not have access to a computer with an Internet connection (either at home or at work) or who are not capable of responding to a survey in either English or French. In addition, some groups within the population are systemically less likely to answer surveys.

The table below compares the unweighted pre- and post-wave samples to the 2016 Census results by region, age, and gender. Overall, the sample is highly representative of the national adult population, except for a few gaps which are described below.

	Pre-Wave Unweighted Percentage	Post- Wave Unweighted Percentage	Census 2016 Proportions (16+)
Region*
BC	13.3%	13.7%	13.6%
Alberta	10.4%	9.8%	11.2%
Prairies (MB/SK)	6.5%	6.2%	6.5%
Ontario	39.9%	35.8%	38.5%
Quebec	23.4%	28.6%	23.4%

Atlantic	6.5%	5.8%	6.8%
Gender*
Male	52.7%	57.5%	48.6%
Female	47.3%	42.5%	51.4%
Age*
16-17	2.3%	7.4%	2.8%
18-34	27.4%	25.1%	26.6%
35-54	30.1%	30.3%	33.1%
55+	40.3%	37.2%	37.5%

* Denotes variables included in the weighting scheme.

The comparison for the variables used in the weighting scheme are minimal, however, there are a few notable differences. In the post-wave, the youngest age group (16-17) shows an overrepresentation in the unweighted sample. This is due to the intentional oversampling of this population and is to be expected. Additionally, men in both waves show an overrepresentation. However, this is due to the oversampling of men in the research and is also to be expected. The remaining age distribution in the online sample remains consistent with only slight differences observed between the unweighted percentages and the Canadian 2016 Census data. Regional distributions similarly demonstrate slight, but not significant, differences between the unweighted percentages and the 2016 Census data.
