6.1 Introduction

This chapter provides information on program codes (PROG) which are included in the Program Alignment Architecture (PAA). The program codes are used to account for the use of resources to promote overall government program objectives.

The format of these PROG is composed of a 5 digit field: 3 alpha (capital letter) and 2 numeric digit codes.

Example:

AAA00 - the first 3 digits are capital letters and the last 2 digits are numbers.

Changes have been made to the Program Alignment Architecture. As of fiscal year 2017 to 2018 and under the new Treasury Board Secretariat Policy on Results, some departments will be implementing the new Departmental Results Framework. This framework consists of departmental core responsibilities and their related program inventory.

Those departments are:

- Canadian Revenue Agency
- Canadian Human Rights Commission
- National Energy Board
- Canadian Transportation Accident Investigation and Safety Board
- Parole Board of Canada
- Treasury Board Secretariat
- Office of the Commissioner of Lobbying

Example:

ZZZ00 - represents a core responsibility. The first 3 digits are capital letters and the last 2 digits are two zeroes.

ZZZ01 - this five digit alphanumeric code represents an individual program from the program inventory. The first 3 digits identify the core responsibility to which the program corresponds and the last two numbers is a combination between 01 and 99.

1. EDC is authorized to use Program Activity Code AJQ00 -International Commerce. This code is listed under the department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade.
2. Departments or agencies are to substitute the A with a zero (0) if they only have one program. Also, for departments or agencies with more than one program, or where another department or agency is allowed to function within a host departmental financial system and the accounting is included in the host department's CFMRS trial balance, the A would be substituted sequentially by 1 for the first program or department and agency and 2 for the second program, etc.
