

Paul LETONDAL (1831-1894) was an organist, cellist, teacher and composer. Blind since childhood, he studied at the Institut des jeunes aveugles in Paris. He came to Montreal in 1852 where he taught other Canadian composers, including Calixa Lavallée and Clarence Lucas.

Click on the "◀◀" button above to return to the text.