Sure lets talk tomorrow. By the way I think the that southern farm is Read Is – I'm pretty sure it wasn't stocked during their study – maybe they didn't notice .

FYI – it was Simon that noticed the discrepancy between the maps.

Hi, Simon and I were discussing doing this. It great that you also notice the discrepancies in their ranking of sites between the two papers. You will also notice that the most southerly farm in the 2010 paper disappeared for the 2011 paper. Perhaps some stole it. I will speak to you tomorrow about this.

Hi Stewart

I was wondering whether you would be interested in submitting a rebuttal to the Price sockeye paper (in PLoS One), with me. I put together some of my own thoughts on the subject which I have attached. I understand that you were preparing a review as well for internal purposes (with Simon and Dick). I haven't actually ever prepared a rebuttal for a journal before but would like to be involved in this one.

All the best

Sonja
